COUNTY CONCERN IS INSOLVENT

Franklin Operating Company Admits Condition Before Berks County Court.

RECEIVER IS APPOINTED

Injunction Against Company Granted to Prevent Company From Selling $50,000 Issue of Stock.

Before the Berks county court in Reading Saturday, the Franklin Operating Company, which owns orchards and mining property in this county, admitted it was insolvent, according to a Reading dispatch. The Pennsylvania Trust Company, of that city, was named temporary receiver by the court for the company. Stock was sold to many investors in the vicinity of Reading, it is said.

The appointment of a receiver was made by the court in reply to charges made by Lewis Campbell, of Boyertown, of Berks county, buyer of $25,000 worth of stock in the Franklin Operating Company, that the deal was fraudulently made.

Harry E. Riddlemoser and John P. Butt, who sold their farms, located near Cashtown, to the Cashtown Magnetic Iron Ore Company for $75,000, an allied corporation, were granted a temporary injunction against the company to prevent it from selling a proposed issue of $50,000 in bonds by the court.

Recently Harry E. Riddlemoser and John P. Butt sued the Franklin Operating Company in Reading and obtained judgment amounting to $18,000. Their claim was based on an obligation owed them by the Cashtown Magnetic Iron Ore Company, which the Franklin Operating Company refused to pay. Following the decision in Reading an execution was issued against the Franklin Company in this county.

Ten days ago suit was filed in the Berks county court by Lewis Campbell, who is seeking to recover $25,000 which he alleges he invested under misrepresentations. Equity proceedings at that time were brought against Solan A. Stein, formerly of Gettysburg; John D. Herr, Edward E. Sweitzer, Frank C. Bechtel, H. E. Riddlemoser, John Y. Matz and Walter S. Loy, who are officers and directors of the Franklin Operating Company.

The Adams county company, Mr. Campbell declared before the court sold him stock through false representation. He said the company claimed to own 340 acres of orchard land in Rochester Sedan Was Badly Damaged When Recovered at Petersburg.

Frank Klaus, of Rochester, New York, owner of the Hudson sedan which was stolen near Penn Yan by three crooks who later quarreled and separated in Gettysburg, passed through here Sunday en route for his home from Petersburg, Virginia.

While at the Hotel Gettysburg, where he took dinner, Mr. Klaus stated that his machine was so badly damaged when he recovered it in Petersburg that he had to pay $150 for repairs.

Charles Duffy, leader of the gang of three who caused quite a commotion here for a short time, and Peggy Harris, his companion, have not been captured, according to Mr. Klaus.

CHRISTMAS SAVING GROWS POPULAR

Estimated That Three Banks Paid Out $64,700 This Year.

That the Christmas Savings Fund idea is rapidly increasing in popularity with patrons of the Gettysburg National Citizens Trust Company and First National bank is shown by the total amount including interest paid out this year. An estimate based on figures given out from reliable sources places the total sum for those three institutions at $64,700.

Gettysburg's newest bank, the Lincoln Trust Company, had no Christmas Savings fund this year as they only opened their doors July 31 but already have entered the field for 1921.

Considerable rivalry existing among the institutions as well as the splendid opportunity offered to persons of saving habits is believed to be responsible for the big increase this year. Officials of the Citizens Trust and Gettysburg National would not make public their individual totals, nevertheless, it is known that both experienced a big increase. Taking into account the figures of the First National, which conducted a Christmas fund for the first time, and the increase in the other two institutions, it is safe to say that the amount paid out this year is about $25,000 greater than in 1919.

With a fourth member in the field during 1921 the prospects are bright for another big gain in the coming twelve months.

WILL INCREASE CHARITY WORK

St. Francis Church Reorganizes Queen's Daughters. Urgent Need Now.

At a congregational meeting after the Vesper service in St. Francis Xavier church, Sunday evening, the Queen's Daughters, a charitable organization of members of that parish, was reorganized with a greatly increased membership.

The society was organized in the fall of 1915 by Rev. W. F. Boyle, who was then pastor of St. Francis church, and much charity work was done by the members, the purpose of the organization being to help worthy families of all denominations who were reported to the investigating committee. Charity work was carried on until April of 1917 when the members gave their time to Red Cross work until the end of the war. Worthy families, however, were assisted in conjunction with this work but the work was not carried on as extensively as before.

The treasury of the society was considerably reimbursed at the meeting Sunday evening when Rev. P. F. Sullivan announced a personal contribution of $50. It is the intention of the officers and members of the committee to get down to earnest work immediately as there is an urgent need of funds at this time of the year especially, and it is hoped to raise sufficient money for the work by the payment of yearly dues and a charity ball which will be given in the near future.

Officers appointed for the year were Mrs. Harry Cunningham, president; Miss Emily Brinkerhoff, vice president; Miss Anna McSherry, secretary; Miss Marie King, financial secretary; Rev. P. F. Sullivan, treasurer. The investigating committees are Mrs. Nicholas Redding and Miss Anna Doersom, for the portion of town west of Baltimore street, and Mrs. Margaret Maguire and Mrs. Theodore Kimpke for that section of town east of Baltimore street.

Snyder, Attorney-General William I. Schaffer, Lewis Sadler, Commissioner of State Highways and Samuel S. Lewis, the newly elected Auditor General.

LARGE CROWD TO HEAR CANTATA

Gettysburg Vocalists Present "The Holy City." Was Excellent Rendition.

One of the largest crowds that ever gathered for a musical entertainment in Gettysburg were present Sunday night at the College Lutheran church when a choir composed of the town's best vocalists presented the cantata, "The Holy City," a well known production of high standard by Alfred R. Gaul. It is estimated 700 persons were present. More than a hundred were compelled to stand throughout the entertainment.

From the introduction by Mrs. Lillian Myer Snyder, who directed the choir until the final chorus the great audience drank in the melodies and words of the famous composer. The rendition of the cantata was of the highest order. College and Seminary students were a part of the choir and aided materially in the successful presentation.

The following is the program and the names of those who sang the special parts:

Introduction, instrumental, Mrs. Snyder; chorus, "No Shadows Yonder"; air, tenor solo, Dr. John Robinson, "My Soul Awaits For God"; trio, Mrs. H. R. His remark as to his last appearance would in all probability not have been forthcoming had it not been an answer to a question by one of the attorneys concerning a hearing date.

SURGEONS SAVE MEN FROM FIRE

Blaze Wrecks Two Wards in Walter Reed Hospital in Capital.

INSANE SOLDIER DIES

Fire is Believed to Have Been Accidentally Started by Him. Inmates in Panic. Fight Desperately.

Washington, December 13.—One insane soldier, Alvin Messenger, who was a sergeant in the 7th Coast Artillery, was burned to death and several others overcome by smoke when fire, which originated in the psychopathic or insane wards at Walter Reed Hospital Sunday morning, burned two temporary buildings, used to house "disturbed patients" while their cases are being diagnosed. The surrounding wards and the main buildings were saved by heroic efforts.

Cost Him His Life
The hospital authorities are sure that Messenger's disobedience of the rule prohibiting smoking cost him his life.

It is believed that he threw a lighted cigarette or cigar near some inflammable materials, which ignited the bed clothes. The theory is based on the fact that the fire was traced to his room and evidence found that he had been smoking.

Messenger had only arrived at the hospital last Saturday night from Panama and was not in any violent shape mentally. The hospital officials are inclined to believe the blaze was purely an accident.

An early report that several other soldiers were missing proved incorrect as all of the patients were accounted for when a check was made, except the one victim.

Surgeons' Heroic Work

Three ward physicians had their clothing almost burned from their backs in their absolute disregard for danger in removing their charges. One surgeon is reported to have been badly burned. The veterans at the hospital now consider the surgeons real heroes. Wards 43 and 44 were destroyed and it is estimated that the loss will be $20,000, not counting the destruction of some very valuable instruments used in the treatment of psychopathic patients.

Brave Nurses

Major L. W. Webb, of the hospital staff, said when the blaze was detected those connected with the hospital, including the physicians and nurses, manned the fire apparatus—an elaborate equipment installed at the hospital—and brave efforts were made to extinguish the flames.

Owing to the nature of the construction, the fire spread rapidly, and an alarm was sent to the District fire department.

Three companies quickly responded and succeeded in wiping out the fire and preventing its spread to the main buildings.

Major Webb said that 70 patients in the wards destroyed were removed with some difficulty. For a time they were grouped around the lawns, clad only in thin hospital attire.

Dragged To Safety

One soldier under treatment climbed to the roof of one of the burning buildings and refused to come down voluntarily. Only by the effort of six men was he dragged to safety.

Despite the fierceness of the fire the hospital staff remained calm and undisturbed. Nurses heroically stood by their patients, quieting their fears, while wounded men dragged their maimed buddies to safety. Helpless patients lay stoically on their frames and casts, resigned through years of suffering to meet any fate in store for them.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RUSH

Has Started Already at Gettysburg Post Office.

The holiday rush at the Gettysburg post office has started already, according to an announcement by Postmaster C. S. Duncan.

An unusual bulk of mail passing through the local offices today forecasted a Christmas and New Year rush that will equal if not surpass last year when all records were broken. Nearly two weeks before Christmas is unusually early for the influx of mail to begin as no marked increase in volume is usually noted until about the eighteenth of the month.

POSTAL REPORT IS NOT BRIGHT

One Out of Every 159 Persons Draws Pay From Government.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—One person out of every 159 in the entire country was on the Government civil service payroll last July 31, the Civil Service Commission declared last night in its annual report. The Commission adds that of those estimated by the census as employed in gainful occupations in the country, one in every 68 was a Government worker.

The total number of civil service employees last July, the Commission says, was 691,116, and the Government was using them in approximately 1700 different kinds and grades of work.

There were almost a million Government employees at the height of the world war, the Commission asserts, and adds that pre-war figures of some 480,000 in 1916 probably never again will be reached. The Commission declares that an "altogether rosy picture cannot be painted" of the Government's personnel situation.

A partial tabulation of the great army of Government employees fixes the average age at 28.4 years and the average salary at $1176 a year, exclusive of the $240 yearly bonus which many of the employees receive. Due to the greater proportion of men in high or technical posts, the Commission placed the average salary of men workers at $1220 and of women at $1047.

The Commission's recommendation for placing all postmasters under civil service is renewed. The President's order to this effect in 1917 has been supported by the public, by business men and others, the Commission asserts. The order, which still is in effect, can be made permanent only by act of Congress.

CORK COMPLETE WRECK

Streets Look as Though an Earthquake Had Occurred.

(By Associated Press)

Cork, Ireland, Dec. 13.—More than 300 buildings are said to have been destroyed in the fire which yesterday laid waste to a great part of this city. Most of the fires have been extinguished but there are occasional sporadic outbursts of flames.

The police and military are having the greatest difficulty in keeping the thousands of spectators from the wrecked premises, the walls of which threaten to collapse.

St. Patrick street, one of the main Cork thoroughfares, today presented the appearance of having been wrecked by an earthquake. Looting has been general. Outside the fire zone the police seized a gang of burglars who were killing a woman.

CORK WILD SCENE AS CITY BURNS

Reprisal Follows Attack On British Troops From Ambush.

MANY HOUSES BLOWN UP

Large Buildings Destroyed in Heart of City. Other Fires Started. Three Civilians Shot to Death.

Dublin, December 13.—The central portion of the City of Cork has been burned to the ground and other portions of the city are ablaze.

The conflagration followed an ambush of the military at Piliars Cross Saturday night, in which four persons were killed and many wounded.

Three civilians were taken from their houses and shot dead after the ambush of the military. Then the fire started. There were bomb explosions and firing also was heard. The populace is panicking.

Fine Building Burned

The Municipal Buildings, the Carnegie Library and the Corn Exchange, which covers a large area, have been consumed by the flames, which are so hot at places that passing trams have been set on fire.

The fire hose was cut, rendering useless the efforts of the firemen. Two acres soon became a furnace. The front walls of houses were blown out by bombs. The great block between Maylor street and Fish street still was burning Sunday afternoon, the fire eating its way backward.

A message received at 6 o'clock Sunday evening said that the fires at Cork are under control.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock a period of intense quiet fell on the city, but near 9 o'clock uniformed men began to display great activity in various parts of Cork. At some points trams were held up and passengers taken out. It was reported that a number were beaten and others placed against the wall and closely questioned, but were finally allowed to proceed.

City Terrorized

In the Summer Hill district, the scene of the ambush, shortly after curfew, two brothers named Delaney are reported to have been taken from their homes and shot, one subsequently dying. During the hour before curfew terrorism held sway, and when the streets were emptied of civilians, loud explosions and rifle and revolver shots kept up until early morning. The explosions appeared to come from incendiary bombs, as persons who ventured to look from their windows saw fires break out in St. Patrick's street and daylight revealed the full extent of the damage.

It is not improbable that lives have been lost in the fires; already several persons connected with the destroyed houses and business premises are reported missing.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon people were just beginning to venture again into the streets; the whole city was then in control of the military, and it is understood that the officer in command, assured the populace that the military would remain on duty indefinitely to prevent further destruction. The troops are in full fighting order, pickets with machine guns being posted at all vantage points.

MARRIED NINE TIMES

Civil War Veteran Persists In Getting New Wives.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Dec. 13.—Hidden away in the foothills of the Ozarks, 15 miles north of Poplar Bluff, has been discovered the most married man in Missouri, "the Nat Goodwin of the Ozarks." He has been a resident in this section for years, only recently has it been known to the public that he had been married nine times.

This man is William L. Tiltman, who has just passed his 78th year. He was born in Wilks county, North Carolina, October 11, 1842, and at the age of 20 enlisted in the Union Army, serving throughout the civil war as a member of Company G, of the 110th Illinois Infantry.

HELD AFTER AUTO CRASH

Five Men Hurt. Charge of Drunkenness Made.

Five men were injured to varying degrees of severity in an automobile smash-up which occurred Sunday night about 11 o'clock on the Harrisburg "pike near York. W. C. Jacobs, aged 37 years, and E. C. Rice, both of York, are held for hearing under $1,000 bail each on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Neither of the men was able to furnish bail and both were locked up for the night.

BOOZE RUNNERS THRIVE THERE

Have Arrested 1800 Men in New England During Six Months.

Boston, Dec. 13.—The statement that 1800 persons had been arrested and 700 liquor-carrying automobiles seized by a flying squadron of 80 Federal prohibition enforcement officers since July 1, in efforts to break up illicit transportation of liquor between New York and Boston, was made Sunday by William J. McCarthy, enforcement agent for New England. Closest attention is now being paid to Connecticut, McCarthy said.

Automobiles with special tank compartments for accommodation of liquor, piano cases, orange crates and furniture vans were mentioned by McCarthy as among the most popular ways of moving liquor. Tanks concealed within seat cushions and behind the upholstery of sedan cars have been discovered, he said.

Most of the cars contain a gasoline tank of two compartments, one of which is filled with liquor, and women are said to be carried as passengers in an attempt to conceal the real errand of the automobiles. McCarthy asserted that Springfield, Worcester, Lowell and Providence had been practically closed as avenues for liquor destined for Boston.

McCarthy has refused to prosecute a sick man in whose home had been found a bedside still and some moonshine whiskey. The man, a victim of tuberculosis, was so weak when the officers made the raid that he could not be moved.

He told them that his finances would not permit him to purchase whisky on a medical prescription, and that as he needed stimulant to keep him alive, he had installed the still at the side of his bed.

MANY ADOPT SICK CHILDREN

able E. V. Babcock, has also enrolled among the people who "adopted their Christmas child early."

Christmas this year will find Lillian Russell, the well-known actress, who in private life is Mrs. Alexander Moore, of Pittsburgh, playing the role of Christmas parent to one of the sick children at Mont Alto.

Charles Jones, the kiddie who has fallen to her lot, is eleven years old and a Boy Scout, one of the fifty that make up Troop 1 at the Sanatorium. He desires a watch although he wants it understood that he can tell time pretty well by the sun, but thinks a man-sized watch would be safer.

Many of the letters received by the Department ask for more than one child, some of them generously offering to take as many as five while one requested the entire list at the sanatorium.

Requests for the children will be received by the Department until the list is exhausted.

Other well-known people in the state who have adopted children are Dr. E. M. Green, of Easton, Thomas Seidel, of Reading, Hugh Dawson, Mrs. W. M. Irvine, of Mercersburg, and Dr. Charles Miner, of Wilkes-Barre. Several clubs, schools and organizations have asked for children whom they can continue to help throughout the year.

BIG FOOD PRICE DROP

Decline In Year Is Twenty Nine Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 13.—Holiday foodstuffs and everyday foodstuffs are at their lowest price level in three years and eight months. This is the heartening statement that Bradstreet's made yesterday. The statement is based on statistics compiled for years. Every week Bradstreet's takes a list of certain articles of food and averages the cost based on prices per pound. Comparison of the week's prices with those of the same week in 1919 shows a decrease of 29.2 per cent.

ANSWER HEALTH QUERIES

Next Lesson Will Deal With Diphtheria.

The following are the answers to the health questions which appeared in these columns recently:

Question 1—How is Rabies contracted?

Answer—By the saliva of a rabid animal coming in contact with an open wound, usually by the bite of a rabid animal.

Question 2—How should a dog bite be treated?

Answer—The wound should be enlarged, made to bleed freely, washed out well and cauterized.

Question 3—What should be done with a dog suspected of Rabies?

Answer—The dog should be killed, his head should be packed in ice and sent to the nearest diagnostic laboratory.

The next lesson is entitled "The Leak." The use of Antitoxin for diphtheria has very greatly reduced the death rate from that disease. It is possible to go still further and by the use of "Toxin-Antitoxin" to eliminate diphtheria entirely.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13—Members of the party deported nearly a year ago on the "soviet ark" Buford with Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, have attempted to blow up officials of the Russian soviet government, according to information received yesterday at the Department of Justice. MEDIUM REAPED HARVEST IN YORK

Got Away With More Than $3,000. Fortune Tellers Banned.

Three more alleged victims of John Lannox, missing "spirit medium," reported to the York police Saturday. The police say they have every reason to believe that a number of others are deterred from reporting losses because of their wish to escape publicity and ridicule. Norman H. Forry, of York, said that he had intrusted $271 to the care of Lannox, who promised to invest the money in a gold mine for him by a "magic process." The police say that a woman, whose name they have withheld, was swindled out of $300. The losses originally reported were $3000 by Mrs. Agnes Anderson, a Stewartstown widow, and $300 by David B. Strine, of West York.

As a result of the exposure of Lannox orders were issued by Mayor Hugentagler Saturday that all fortune-tellers, clairvoyants and other professed "mediums" must cease practicing their arts in York. The police say that the office of Lannox sometimes was filled with his "patrons." He advertised to bring business, love and domestic affairs to successful conclusions, reuniting separated couples in from nine to 90 days.

LATEST MACHINE GUN

New Weapon Will Fire 700 Shots A Minute.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13—Successful tests of a new machine gun firing half-inch bullets and with at least double the range of the calibre .30 machine gun now in use was announced Saturday by the War Department. The new weapon gave "remarkable results," the statement declared.

John M. Browning, inventor of the Browning machine gun, used during the world war, collaborated with War Department experts in development of the new gun.

The tests demonstrated "unusual possibilities," the announcement said. Mechanical details were withheld, but it was stated that the new weapon had a maximum rapidity of 700 shots per minute and an efficient minimum of 400 shots a minute. The gun is water cooled and weighs about twice as much as the .30 calibre Browning.

Preliminary tests indicated that the gun was extremely accurate even at long ranges, the grouping of the shots being good and penetrating satisfactory, the statement said, adding that defects encountered in the calibre .30 Browning had been to a large extent overcome.

TENOR INJURES THROAT

Enrico Caruso Ruptures Blood Vessel At Opera.

New York, Dec. 13—Enrico Caruso, tenor, burst a blood vessel in his throat while singing at the Brooklyn Academy of Music Saturday night. The performance was stopped.

The accident, which, it is said, is not serious, occurred during the first act of Donizetti's "L'Elisir D'Amore," but the tenor did not stop until the end of the act.

A physician in attendance then told him it would be unwise to continue, for if he did so, the results might prove serious. In addition, the blood in his throat interfered with the singer's vocalization.

The manager in dismissing the audience said: "Mr. Caruso assures me that he is willing, and even anxious to finish the performance, if you wish him to. It is for you to decide."

"No," came the answer from almost every person in the big theatre, which was crowded.

The hemorrhages were similar to those which resulted from a ruptured blood vessel while Mr. Caruso was singing at the Metropolitan Opera House last Wednesday night, it was said.

his county valued at $1,000 an acre and that he has learned the company does not hold title to the property.

Mr. Campbell also stated the officials of the company told him the money was to be used to buy machinery to extract ore but had been abandoned because of difficulty in mining the ore. He declared no machinery had been contracted for.

He also sets forth that statements made by the company concerning the productiveness of Adams county apple farms are false and in many instances grossly exaggerated. In his statement, he says he was informed the orchard lands were worth $1,000 an acre and within five years the land might be worth $2,500 an acre simply for orchard purposes. When the equity proceedings were filed by Mr. Campbell he alleged the company was insolvent and that its shares of stock were worthless. He also asked that the defendants named be adjudged liable to pay him damages for wrong alleged to have been done to him and that such damages be ascertained by the court. The court agreed with the plaintiff that the company was insolvent, but according to the Reading Dispatch no decision was made as to damages asked for.

IRON BREAKS JAWS

The blow rendered him unconscious.

RUSH FOR AUTO TAGS

Believe More Than 600,000 Will Be Issued.

Applications for the registration of motor vehicles totaling over one hundred thousand have already been received in the office of the registrar in Harrisburg. It is estimated that upwards of six hundred thousand licenses will be issued this year, and those who desire to operate their cars with the beginning of the new year may find themselves unable to do so, if they do not make application for their licenses in good time, as all are received and are issued in turn, and the time limit, the department states, will not be extended this year as it was in 1919.

THE value of a continuous market is impossible to state in definite terms. The man who has been called on suddenly to sell a team of horses or a house or lot or a farm—things for which there are no organized exchanges—can doubtless appreciate the fact whenever he has grain to sell it is always spot cash.

Even members of exchanges who have financial standing never ask for credit in handling grain. Grain is always money.

In any hour of any business day, in war or in peace, in prosperity or in panic, grain can always be sold on the grain exchanges.

Indeed, during the war, when the price of wheat was fixed at $2.25 in Chicago, it was the only definite price in all of the world's turmoil.

Not another commodity escaped the chaos. Gold itself had but a sentimental value, and while there was plenty of money in all the countries, money would not buy food.

Therefore wheat became the standard of value and all other grains and feedstuffs were measured according to the price of wheat, which was and is always cash.

Grain being cash, the farmer can always get his money, which is generally supplied by the city commission houses. If there are many buyers, the price goes up. If nobody wants to assume the risk of ownership, the price must go down. Somebody must own the grain at all times. When the price goes down it indicates a lack of speculation, because when speculation is rampant the price usually goes up.

MANY PROMINENT MEN COME OUT FOR TANLAC

Mayors, Judges, Bankers, Lawyers, Doctors, Ministers, Editors and Well-Known Business Men Indorse it.

FEEL IT THEIR DUTY TO OTHERS TO TALK

Come Forward and Unhesitatingly Tell Suffering Humanity What It Has Done For Them.

It is seldom, indeed, that men of prominence, especially men holding high public office, willingly express their indebtedness publicly to a proprietary medicine. Many prominent men, however, including supreme court judges, mayors of our leading cities, prominent state and county officials, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors, leading educators, government officials and even ministers of the Gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell the people what Tanlac has done for them.

These well-known men of affairs have recognized in this medicine a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world. It is a well-known fact that these splendid indorsements have been given Tanlac time and time again and they will continue to be given just as often as new tests of its powers are made; and it also explains why numbers of the big drug firms of the country are ordering it exclusively in carload lots.

Doctor Prescribed it

Dr. J. T. Edwards, of Fayetteville, Ga., one of the best-known members of the medical profession in the state of Georgia, makes a statement that will undoubtedly produce a profound impression throughout the country.

"In my thirty years of actual practice as a licensed physician in the state of Georgia," says Dr. Edwards, "I have never seen anything to equal Tanlac as a medicine to produce results. I have no hesitancy in recommending this medicine and I am prescribing it for my patients almost every day."

John P. Jordan, 195 Orlando St., Buffalo, N. Y., well-known proprietor of the Jordan Moving Co., who has lived in Buffalo all his life, had suffered for a year or more from stomach trouble, nervousness and a general rundown condition. He says: "Tanlac is by far the best medicine I have ever run across and I am glad to recommend it. My appetite is so big now I don't seem able to satisfy it and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. My nerves have quieted down so I sleep like a child and I have so much more strength and energy that my work is lots easier to me."

Noted Texan Talks

Hon. Archie R. Anderson, ex-sheriff of Harris county, Texas, is unquestionably not only one of the best-known, but one of the most popular men that ever held office in Texas. He served the people in this important office for 15 consecutive years.

"I had the worst form of indigestion, suffered all the time from gas on my stomach and was continually belching up undigested food," said Mr. Anderson. "I suffered with neuralgic pains of the worst sort and nothing seemed to help me except in a temporary way."

"I began to feel better after taking my first bottle of Tanlac and have just now started on my third. I'm a different man already."

Joseph H. York, well-known business man and highly respected citizen of Portland, Maine, says:

"I am now able to eat three square meals a day for the first time in two years. I am now sixty-nine years of age and in all my life I have never run across a medicine that I considered in a class with Tanlac. I have just finished my fourth bottle and this medicine has benefited me beyond my greatest hopes. Besides gaining sixteen pounds in weight, I have been built up and strengthened until I feel all of twenty years younger."

H. W. Hill, president of one of the leading banking institutions of South Tennessee, Tenn., and one of the most successful bankers and business men in Tennessee, said:

"I suffered from rheumatism and other ailments for many years and Tanlac has done me more good than anything I ever tried. I now wake up in the morning feeling fine."

"I'm telling all my friends about Tanlac and am recommending it to leading druggists."

FORMER MAYOR RECOMMENDS IT

Hon. Frank V. Evans, of Birmingham, Ala., Makes Strong Statement.

One of the latest additions to the large and rapidly growing list of prominent men who have publicly indorsed Tanlac for the good it has done, them, is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Evans is one of the best known men in public life in Alabama today, being at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, the Birmingham Age-Herald. He was also examiner of public accounts of Alabama. In telling of the benefits he had derived from Tanlac, Mr. Evans said:

"For years I suffered with gastritis and indigestion in the worst form. I was habitually constipated and had pains in my shoulders and headache continually. My appetite left me almost entirely and everything I would eat hurt me. Finally I got to having awful attacks of acute indigestion, palpitation of the heart and smothering spells. For a long time I would have one or more of these spells every night and I would wake out of my restless sleep gasping for breath."

"I bought a bottle of Tanlac and to my surprise and gratification I began to feel relief after the first few doses. I kept on taking the medicine and now my recovery is simply the talk of Birmingham."

them, regardless of their age and trouble."

Dr. G. W. De LaPerriere, of Winder, Ga., is not only one of the best-known physicians and druggists in the State of Georgia, but is also a man of extensive property and wide influence, ranking as one of the leading citizens of the entire section. He has been in the drug business in Winder for 25 years.

Recently Dr. De LaPerriere wrote:

"Our people are much enthused over the beneficial effects of Tanlac and I desire to say that it is the most wonderful seller I ever had in this store."

Harry McAvoy, with the Alexandria Hotel of Los Angeles, one of the largest and finest hotels in Southern California, says:

"Tanlac has been worth its weight in gold to me and all the money on earth couldn't buy the good it has done me. In 1900 I suffered a general breakdown and during these twenty years I spent a small fortune searching for health. I had indigestion in its worst form and I honestly believe no man in the world suffered any more than I did. Last September I made up my mind to give Tanlac a trial and it was the greatest and happiest surprise of my life, for I began to feel better right away. My appetite improved, I began to sleep better and my strength gradually returned and in only a few weeks' time my troubles had all left me and I found I had gained fifteen pounds in weight. From that day to this I have positively been in the best health I ever enjoyed in my life."

Other prominent men who have indorsed Tanlac are:

Professor Elmer Morris, of Dover, Tenn.; Professor W. A. Wood, of the Central Graded Schools, Winder, Ga.; C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil Co., Lawrenceville, Ga.; Hon. S. S. Shepard, Member of the Atlanta city council; Hon. George Samuel Riley, former Chief of Police in Macon, Ga.; Hon. C. G. Lavender, register of Williamson County, Tennessee; Dr. W. H. Brown, 4822 Charlotte Ave., Nashville, Tenn., founder and president of the Tennessee Protestant Home for Girls; John F. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent, of Chattahoochee and Atlanta; Hon. B. F. Whittington, Judge of the Rolston Court, South Omaha, Neb.; Geo. L. Bedford, Traffic Manager for the Gustin Bacon Manufacturing Co., Kansas City; Mr. James Taylor, Illinois State Mine and Mineral Inspector, residing at Peoria; Rev. E. G. Butler, pastor Central Baptist Church of Muskogee, Okla.; Hon. R. W. Damon, attorney of Tacoma, Wash.; Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, for three terms sheriff of Fulton County, Ga.; Rev. J. H. Dunn, pastor of the Church of Christ, Spokane, Wash.; Judge G. W. Kyser, 1204 W. 9th St. Austin Texas, and hundreds of others in every part of the country.

Tanlac is sold in Gettysburg by all Tanlac and am recommending it to leading druggists.

COLLEGE VICTOR IN CAGE OPENER

Late Rally Enables Them to Down Drexel by 35-18
Score.

Here is how Doyle Leathers' Varsity team won the opening game of the basketball season here Saturday night, 35-18.

Five minutes after the opening of the second half the score stood tied at 15-15. The fans were desperate. Was it possible, they thought, that Gettysburg was to be downed at the outset of the year by Drexel Institute, a team of little prominence in the collegiate world?

Frank Gantz, flashy Freshman forward, must have sensed the thoughts of the fans for he grabbed the ball from scrimmage and shot it clean for a goal from field.

As a foul was called on Drexel, "Ginger" Gingerich, husky Gettysburg guard, stepped to the fifteen foot mark. Swish. The first foul of a remarkable run of eleven out of twelve cleared the basket and Gettysburg's rally was on in earnest. Eight more times Gingerich stepped to the foul mark and eight more times the score keeper chalked up one point for Gettysburg.

Again the agile Gantz seized the ball and banked it in for another count. Captain Mike Miller was the next contributor of points on his favorite play—seizing a rebound—and Gettysburg was safe. Vanquished Drexel called time out and the count stood 30-16. Fifteen points had been tallied by the Battlefield Boys while their opponents scored but one.

As a whole Gettysburg's team work showed lack of unity which was to be expected in the first game of the season. Captain Miller, upon whom Coach Leathers counts heavily this season, led in scoring with five goals from field. The outstanding feature, however, was the remarkable work of Gingerich who tossed seventeen fouls in twenty tries, the finest shooting from the fifteen foot mark seen here since the prime of the late Bill Mahaffie.

Weinberger led the scoring for Drexel.

Line up:
Gettysburg Drexel
Gantz forward Weinberger
Mundorff forward Mansfield
Miller center Sidwell
Gingerich guard Radcliffe
Ziegler guard Conwell
Field goals—Miller 5, Gantz 2, Weinberger 2, Mundorff, Stewart, Radcliffe, Conwell.

Foul goals—Gingerich 17 out of 20; Radcliffe 9, out of 17; Mansfield 1 out of 1.

Substitutions—Stewart for Mundorff, Mundorff for Gantz, Hutchinson for Stewart, Tannenbaum for Mansfield.

Referee—Ikeler, St. Olaf College.
Time Keeper—Reynolds, Gettysburg High.

"NERO" MAIN ATTRACTION

Coach McAvoy, of Drexel Institute,
Well Known Figure.

The main attraction traveling with the Drexel Institute basketball team which lost to Gettysburg here Saturday night is their coach, "Bill" McAvoy.

Twelve years ago "Bill," despite his present ponderous appearance, was a fleet footed backfield man for the Lafayette football team and won fame on Franklin field when he ran through the entire University of Pennsylvania team for sixty five yards and a touchdown.

After graduating from Lafayette "Bill" galloped on the diamond as a catcher and was noted in the New York state league for his ability to steal bases by sliding on his stomach. After every game, his teammates say, "Bill's" stomach presented the appearance of a raw beefsteak. Anyhow friend coach pilfered eighty bases, standing second only to "Eddie" Zimmerman, who broke the record with 120.

Another art attributed to McAvoy was his ability to play the violin. The huge figure of the coach standing on the back porch of a hotel playing a violin won for him the title of "Nero."

Gettysburg is not unknown to "Nero," who came here previously as coach for Delaware College.

HOBOS AT PEACE

Will Be No War, Rival Leaders Say.

Toledo, Dec. 13.—War clouds which hung over the camps of two rival hobo organizations were dispelled Saturday when James Eads How, founder of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, and Gus Gramer, grand dictator of the Social Order of Hoboes, shook hands and agreed "to work in harmony together forever for the good of all hoboes in general."

How announced Saturday that as the result of his convention here the brotherhood has obtained a nine-room house which has been converted into "a house for hoboes," to be used also as an "employment bureau."

The convention came to a close Saturday after sessions covering two weeks. The two factions clashed early in the convention, Dictator Gramer asserting that How's organization was "usurping the rights of the regular hoboes."

Railroads Are Now Real Public Property

By FRANCIS H. Sisson,
Vice President of Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

A NEW co-operative era has been opened in the history of American railroads. Today the railroad owners, the managers, the workers, the travelers, the shippers and the public are partners in a common enterprise. We have, in fact, actual public ownership and public operation of railroads. And it may comfort some of our radical agitators for government ownership of the railroads to know that the government now has more than a billion dollars invested in the enterprise.

When Congress turned the railroads back to their owning companies, guaranteeing that their combined net income should not fall below a fixed minimum, and providing for sequestration into the public treasury of a large share of their profits, all the people became partners in the railroad business. Private ownership and operation, in the old sense, no longer exist. The directors and managers are the hired servants of the public, administering the great properties entrusted to them under the direction of a government board which has almost limitless powers. They can take no important action without the approval of the government. Their management, as defined by law, must be "honest, efficient and economical."

It should be borne in mind that the Transportation Act does not guarantee the profits of any individual company, nor does it guarantee interest or dividends on any securities. It does not stunt individual initiative by removing the fear of failure or the hope of reward. The unsuccessful railroad can go bankrupt just as easily now as before the law was passed. It provides no insurance against the results of bad management. What it does in this respect is merely to provide a level of rates that will enable the industry as a whole to live—but not grow fat—and give a modest reward to the most efficient and most fortunate.

Under the new order, rising profits will mean rising dividends only to the point that the government considers necessary to establish a firm credit foundation. After that, the bigger the profits, the lower will be the rates charged the public, because the new law restricts profits, and the quickest way to cut profits is to cut rates. The public, therefore, will have a greater interest in railroad efficiency. More tons per car and more miles per car day will be more to the advantage of the public than to the railroads themselves.

The railroads must grow—they must expand to keep their transportation capacity abreast and ahead of the growth of the country.

This means a constant stream of new capital. Before the war we were putting half a billion dollars a year into railroad expansion. With construction costs doubled, there is now need for a billion dollars a year. The amount of new capital necessary for normal growth is equal to the entire 6 per cent income provided by Congress. In other words, if the owners of railroad bonds and stocks were obliged to provide all the new capital it would absorb every dollar of interest and dividends. Not a cent of the gross revenue could be taken from the business.

It is generally conceded that within the next few years, if our means of transportation by rail are to keep pace with the demands upon them, very large sums must be expended in the way of new construction and new equipment. While some small portion of this may come from current earnings, the great bulk must be new capital. This capital must be obtained from the investing public. If, therefore, we are to rely in the future, as we have in the past, upon private enterprise and private capital for our railway transportation, the return must be such as will induce the needed amount of investment. It is not only a matter of justice, it is in the truest public interest, that an adequate return should be allowed upon railway capital.

But the chief obstacle in the way of perfecting national control of transportation—so far as perfection is politically and humanly attainable—is in the conflict of federal and state regulation. The day must soon come when all public regulations of interstate commerce will be definitely under the federal government. It will need a decision of the highest court to end the existence of this twilight zone of public regulation.

But there is involved in the railroad problem a far greater issue than even that of adequate and efficient transportation. I refer to the issue of private ownership of property, not merely as an inherent right which the ages have fully sustained but also from the vastly larger consideration of public advantage. And we may be sure that had not private ownership of property long ago justified itself from the standpoint of public weal there would not be such ownership of property today. I have pointed out how the railroads are in reality publicly owned. And all property, whether we realize it or not, is so owned when it serves the public. The only question is how best to serve that paramount interest.

We have been through the throes of government operation—virtually government ownership—of the railroads. That was justified as a war expedient, but the people of this country, I venture, will long remember the inconvenience and the colossal expense of that experiment. But in this critical transition period, with its ferment of sociological discontent following as a natural phenomenon the violent psychological reactions of the war, the danger lies in resort to extreme measures as possible panaceas for our economic ills. We must guard against ultra-radicalism and ultra-conservatism. Both provoke class strife and breed Bolshevism. Both are enemies of the public welfare.

The radical element of labor should pause and consider that "the ordinary wage-earners of Russia have made the most vigorous effort in recent history to profit by the confiscation of the property of the well-to-do and wealthy classes. The resulting paralysis of industry, with the dire poverty and even starvation resulting for those very working classes that the confiscation was intended to benefit, are facts too well known to require elaboration. It is clear that the workingman cannot with safety destroy the equipment both tangible and intangible which aids him in production, and that, without the organizing ability of the captains of industry and the savings of the propertyed classes, the equipment needed for production is hopelessly inadequate.

The reactionary element among employers should remember that curtailment of production in order to force wages down and sustain prices will inevitably react as a boomerang. Their eventual loss will more than offset their immediate gain. General prosperity is the best antidote for industrial unrest and dangerous radical tendencies.

Labor, too, must bear in mind that it has far more to lose by curtailing output on the false theory that decreased production per man creates more jobs. It should realize that the best way to sustain wage levels is to give a fair day's effort for a fair day's wage.

I heartily support organized labor when its object is the bettering of industrial conditions by legitimate means. I believe that in so far as organized labor, in whatever form or under whatever name it cares to function, accomplishes that purpose it is performing an invaluable service to this country and the world at large. But the future strength and success of organized labor lie not along the path of economic fallacy and sophistry, such as that represented by the Plumb plan to turn the railroads over to railroad brotherhoods under the guise of government ownership.

Farrell, also of New York, were completing the last leg of a 4000-mile trip to San Francisco from New York.

Dooling was assigned to drive the machine and had driven to the edge of the city limits, Engle and Farrell said, adding that they had retired to the rear of the machine and had prepared for a few hours' sleep when Engle moved a .22 calibre rifle which was bothering him. As he did this, the trigger caught in Farrell's clothing and the rifle was fired. The bullet passed through the rear seat of the machine and entered Dooling's body, stopping above the heart. He died before he could be taken to the hospital.

If may be you are just recovering from a sick spell—or may be your system is run down and your blood so weak that you are in a poor shape to resist infection—

But if you don't feel and look robust you are not robust. Such state is often due to weak blood, not enough red blood cells, a condition known as anemia.

Pepto-Mangan supplies the weak, watery blood with the very elements it needs to put new life into it. It repairs, re-creates, and re-builds the exhausted blood, the vital fluid of health and life. Try Pepto-Mangan if you are "run-down." It cannot harm you—it will certainly help you unless you have some deep-seated chronic disease requiring the physician's care. JUST TWO WEEKS MORE

To Get Ready for Christmas

No time to be lost now, with so many people to remember and so many things to buy.

Christmas Day will not be happy, if we have to think of friends whom we have neglected, or overlooked, in the rush of preparation.

Your friend will not think so much of the value of the thing you buy, as the value of your thoughtfulness in sending a remembrance—that you want to be remembered.

You won't forget your own of course; but there are others to whom you may give a great deal of joy for very small cost—and they'll be so grateful.

Still plenty of time to buy everything. Still plenty of variety to choose from. But it is now too late to procrastinate.

How many problems may we help you to settle tomorrow?

Our Store is fully stocked with the Useful and Practical—Visit us for suggestions if your mind is not fully made up and rest assured that with the larger choice, you'll find right prices in this day of Price Adjustments.

The Doctor's Wife

By Mary Graham Bonner

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

HE HAD married her in the first place of all because of her lovely, low voice. There had been other reasons too—her good looks, her smile, her common sense, but mainly and chiefly the attraction which had drawn him to her had been her voice.

It had seemed during those first years of his practicing and trying to make headway in a seemingly unresponsive city, that voices would drive him mad, wailing, complaining, whimpering always discontented.

Even when he met women socially he felt they refrained from telling him anything but a sorrowful tale of themselves.

As for his wife—she understood. She smiled at the poor excuses they made to come and see him, of the jealousy they showed of each other, of the gifts they sent him, of senseless reasons they had for telephoning.

Sometimes they would both be invited out to dinner at some patient's house. The doctor's wife chuckled as she thought of how little she was wanted.

Usually they looked at her, she knew, rather pityingly, and at times, the border of the sympathizers would say to her:

"It must be awful to be a doctor's wife. I'd never have a moment's peace if I were you with so many women caring for my husband!"

"We get used to it," the doctor's wife said so as not to be disappointing, smiling to herself. What fun it was to be a doctor's wife. How much pity one got one didn't deserve, how much wasted sympathy, how many deliciously jealous thoughts one inspired.

It was Christmas Eve. The doctor had promised his wife that he would help her in those many pleasant engrossing night-before-Christmas tasks.

She went upstairs to see that the children were quite asleep when she heard the telephone ring. She answered it, and then heard her husband's voice who was already answering it from below.

Something, some curious something, made her listen.

"Oh doctor," she heard a voice say, the voice of the one woman who had lately caused her first pangs of jealousy, "I can't wait another moment. I must see you. I'm sorry, on Christmas Eve too, but I must! Please, doctor, can you come at once?"

"That's all right, little lady," she heard her husband answer, "I'll be up at once."

"I'm going out for awhile," the doctor called up the stairs. And was gone without a word of regret and with no effort at an excuse.

Late that evening she went out of the house. She would see this other woman. She called a taxi and hurried off.

"I'm sorry," the maid told her, "but Madame can see no one." And the door was shut abruptly.

What would she do? What could she do? Finally, exhausted after walking about the streets, she went home, her heart full of dry, choking sobs.

At last she heard the doctor's key. He came in. He looked tired. But she was worn out.

"You've been to—," she began.

"Yes," he answered wearily, as he lighted a cigarette, "I have been there all this time. But she has the finest boy you could hope to see; they're simply delighted."

"Yes," the doctor nodded. He was too tired to notice her quick change of expression.

"Oh," he said after a moment, "I'm so glad you didn't finish the Christmas things without me. No matter how late it is, we must always get ready for Christmas together, mustn't we?"

He kissed her lightly.

"After I had left the house," he added, "I remembered I hadn't asked you to wait, and I wanted you to wait no matter how long I'd be! Selfish of me, perhaps, but we must have our Christmas Eve together and get ready for the children's Christmas together, mustn't we, wife of my heart?"

"We most assuredly must," she answered him, and added to herself: "What fools these women are who pity the doctor's wife. I'm the happiest woman in the whole world."

And the doctor was saying: "My dear, do you know that it is Christmas morning and that I'm wishing you a Merry Christmas!"

"Merry Christmas," she returned, and in her heart rang the merriest and happiest of Christmas bells!

D. W. Griffith Presents

"THE LOVE FLOWER"

In producing this picture Mr. Griffith has departed somewhat from his usual plan, not having sought an unusual and even morbid theme with which to display his genius in dramatic construction but has taken a simple heart interest story of an exile on a South Sea Island and his beautiful young daughter and made a simple romance that ends as we all like to how our pictures end, with the hero, this time handsome talented Dick Barthelmess, marrying the pretty winsome leading lady, in this picture, Carol Dempster, one of Mr. Griffith's latest finds.
